Live sustainably: consider using reusable nappies. Millions of disposable nappies are sent to landfill every day in the UK. Each nappy takes up to 500 years to decompose, producing methane gas and leaching chemicals into the soil as it very slowly breaks down. Cloth nappies can easily be washed and reused and passed onto younger siblings. Using a biodegradable nappy liner makes it easier to clean. Find out more at <https://www.ethicalconsumer.org/health-beauty/shopping-guide/nappies>; You can pick up second-hand nappies online at usednappies.co.uk or try them out through a cloth nappy library.

Please supply items for the newsletter by the Monday for inclusion on the following Sunday
